RESOLVED -

102. That the Minutes of the meeting of the County Council held on Wednesday, 20 July 2011, having been printed and circulated, be taken as read and be confirmed and signed by the Chairman as a correct record.

CHAIRMAN'S ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Chairman informed the Council that copies of two letters which Byram-cum-Sutton Parish Council wished to have drawn to the attention of the Council had been circulated in the Chamber.

STATEMENT BY THE LEADER OF THE COUNCIL

County Councillor John Weighell made a statement under Council Procedure Rule 2.3, as Leader of the Council, a summary of the key points of which had previously been circulated and which appears in the Minute Book (page 3271). He welcomed Helen Taylor, the new Director of Health and Adult Services to the Chamber. He responded to questions, including a written question from county Councillor Keith Barnes about a possible freeze on Council Tax.

PUBLIC QUESTIONS OR STATEMENTS

At the invitation of the Chairman, Mr Gary Edwards, resident and parent in Skipton, asked a question, of which notice had been received

"The Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme has been running in Craven for 37 years benefiting young people from all backgrounds and abilities, we are very concerned at what is effectively a dismantling of full access to the Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme in Craven and across North Yorkshire with little consultation, cynically done in just 4 weeks across the summer. Although access to the bronze award (without the expedition) apparently will continue, silver and gold will cease thus making any progression to the higher awards for 15-18 year olds impossible. What is this council doing to ensure continued, open and full access to the Silver and Gold Duke of Edinburgh Award for young people in our District?

We request the Council halt the current plans and reconsider how best to serve young people across the County with this essential scheme that gives young people the opportunity for growth, to learn life skills and help with access to either further education, university and work at this much needed time of higher than ever youth unemployment."

County Councillor Arthur Barker responded to the question, saying:

"North Yorkshire County Council's Youth Support Service has two roles in relation to support for DoE,

Firstly, it acts as the Operating Authority which requires that it employs a co-ordinator and administrator to support the establishment and registration of groups wishing to deliver the award. Currently there are over 70 units, including those run by schools and a variety of voluntary and community youth groups. This function is not affected by the staffing review within the Youth Support Service - we will continue to support schools and other organisations to establish and develop the DoE award. There has been much dialogue with schools which wish to maintain the DoE but who have, in the past, relied on Youth Support staff to deliver their programme. Many of these schools have now assumed this responsibility – they now receive the same level of support as other units under the NYCC responsibility as the operating authority.

Secondly, there are services within NYCC which deliver the award and this includes those delivered by the Youth Support Service. Where the Youth Support Service offers the award it is as an 'open' unit, which means that young people can participate irrespective of which community they live in or school they attend.

The current provision is not equitable across the county and therefore the aim is to establish a programme of personal/social development and accredited learning that can be offered across the service. This will require a period of change during which all the workforce will be equipped with the knowledge and skills to support the development and delivery of the programme. In order to achieve this the service has looked at all the activities it offers and has made some choices about where to continue to invest resources. This has resulted in some activities being discontinued but we have committed to retain the DoE within our programme. However we do need to suspend some provision to allow more time to establish our structure and programmes. This includes the registration to the Silver and Gold Awards whilst we are concentrating on extending the provision at the Bronze level across the county.

We have been working with colleagues from the Outdoor Education Service within the Children and Young People's Service to identify how we can work in partnership to deliver the expedition elements of the programme. We are confident that by 2012 this will be in place and young people will again have access to Silver and Gold level awards through 'open units'.

There is no specific connection between these changes and the new Children and Young People's Plan or the CYPS savings under the Medium Term Financial Strategy. The decision to make changes to the Youth Support Service's offer to young people is cost neutral and based on an internal review of staffing the service."

COUNCIL PROCEDURE RULE 10 QUESTIONS

County Councillor Geoff Webber asked the following question directed to the Chairman of the North Yorkshire Police Authority:

“A motion of no confidence in the Chief Constable was comprehensively defeated at the last meeting of the county council, during which debate several senior members of the Conservative group stated that they had every confidence in the Chief Constable. Those sentiments were repeated in a TV interview with Cllr Kenyon after the meeting. Within less than 2 months, however, the Police Authority declined a request from the Chief Constable to extend his contract. Can Cllr Kenyon explain why the Police Authority completely failed to support her position and that of her group.

I understand that the decision of the Police Authority was made by a small group of authority members and not by the whole membership. Will Cllr Kenyon identify the members involved in making that decision.”

In County Councillor Jane Kenyon’s absence at the Police Authorities’ conference, County Councillor Carl Les indicated that she would respond in writing to the question, with copies of the response being made available to all Members of the Council.

The meeting concluded at 13.00.
