

The North Yorkshire Strategic Plan for SEND Education Provision 0-25

Jane Le Sage AD Inclusion

Jane Harvey Strategic Planning and Development Officer

Who is the plan for?

All children and young people in North Yorkshire aged 0-25 who have SEND

The families of these children and young people

All those who work with these children and young people

Principles

Is this provision good enough for my child?

An inclusive culture and ethos

Joint commitment and accountability to children and young people

Right support, right time, right place

Strategic plan – outcomes

Overall outcomes

Improved educational, social, emotional and health outcomes for children and young people with SEND.

Increased parental confidence in the continuum of SEND provision in North Yorkshire.

Supporting outcomes

Early identification of SEND through high quality, robust assessment of children and young people's needs.

More children and young people with SEND have sustained placements in local settings, schools and colleges that are judged good or outstanding by OFSTED.

All education providers are able to effectively support a range of special educational needs and disabilities.

Effective local area partnership governance arrangements to ensure SEND provision meets local needs and partners are jointly accountable.

SEND in North Yorkshire – some facts and figures

10.1% of school population at SEN support

Predicted rise in EHCPs of over 37% by 2022

SEMH and C & I greatest areas of need

Identified gaps in provision – locality and type

£44.5m High Needs Budget – expect to spend £48.6m
