88 Attendance of RT Hon Robert Goodwill MP

The Rt Hon Robert Goodwill MP attended the meeting to provide an overview of his views on main issues of local interest. He drew attention to the Covid infection rates and hospitalisations was pleased to note the growing number of vaccinations. He also noted the issues around the re-opening of businesses and the knock on effect of the track and trace scheme. He also highlighted the unprecedented level of tourism expected in the area over the summer post 19 July 2021.

In regard to health, he drew attention to a letter he had received regarding stroke treatment at Scarborough Hospital from the President of the British Association of Stroke Physicians, which confirmed that the national decision to base stroke treatment in regional acute units, was the correct approach. He recognised that this use of specialist regional units was likely to be the way forward for a whole range of treatments. However, he expressed concern over the removal of some other treatments/ procedures from Scarborough Hospital as a way of saving money, or due to staff shortages.

Members raised concern about the levels of Covid infection once everything re-opened later in July 2021, and the MP reassured Members that the rate of increase was slowing and the number of vaccinations was advancing. He went on to acknowledge the need for a round of booster vaccinations in Autumn, and the risk averse approach currently being taken by GPs and the difficulties in getting a face-to-face appointment;

The Chair thanked the MP for his attendance at the meeting.

89 Attendance of Police, Fire & Crime Commissioner - Mr Philip Allott

Considered –

A presentation by Philip Allott, North Yorkshire Police, Fire and Crime Commissioner (PFCC), in which he confirmed his initial focus had been on getting out and about and meeting with staff across the Police and Fire and Rescue Service, and provided an overview of his priorities and plans, as summarised below:

- Priorities included the safety of women, support for victims of crime, greater use of youth diversion, tackling drug supply and drug use, tackling hate crime, dealing with cross border crime, reducing re-offending, enhancing rural services, and river safety;
- Improvements to infrastructure and equipment;
- A new approach to anti-social behaviour, with more use of ‘nudge theory’ to promote behaviour change;
- A renewed focus upon tackling rural crime, with greater use of modern technology, such as drones, to extend the reach of Police Officers and PCSOs;
- Support for the retained/volunteer fire fighters and small rural fire and rescue stations;
- Development of the relationship between the Police and local communities so they were better able to work together to promote community safety;
- A review of the problems with the 101 service and the high levels of calls that had recently been received – introduction of digital reporting and waiting times;
- An updated CCTV system across North Yorkshire with a centralised base for monitoring;
- Development of a Public Safety Service;

Specifically in regard to speeding, the PFCC noted the limited resources available and 6,000+ miles of road to be covered. As such, he wanted to encourage residents to raise complaints about speeding, as this would help the Police build up an understanding of where the problems were and how best to target resources. He also confirmed:

- Research would be commissioned, to better understand how best to regulate speed on the highways across the county. This would include enhanced measurement of road use and speeds;
- In some cases, speed limits could be reduced from 40mph to 30mph on roads where there were particular concerns;

- The number of Road Traffic Police Officers to be increased;
- The support of the Council and councillors would be welcomed in working through where fixed speed cameras and camera vans could be placed;

Finally, the PFCC outlined his plans for the future, which included improving resilience, service delivery, governance arrangements and partnership working. He also confirmed forthcoming consultations on the Police and Crime, and Fire and Rescue Plans, and his commissioning priorities.

The Chair thanked the PFCC for attending the meeting and it was

Resolved – That the presentation be noted.

- Due to Covid restrictions, 63% had been helped via telephone, 36% online, with only remaining 1% via face-to-face meetings;
- On average, those who had required advice, had needed help with at least 3 issues, often complex cases like urgent benefits, eviction or wrongful dismissal – two case studies were provided to example that work;
- Feedback from clients had been positive;
- Every effort had been taken to support staff and volunteers, all of whom had been retained;
- As part of the national citizens advice network, the Scarborough & District office had received daily/weekly briefings from experts on what exactly the legislative changes were, what impact they would have, what the new processes were etc, requiring a huge amount of learning for staff;

Members were pleased to note the value to society generated by the Service, in particular the fiscal and wider economic and social benefits. They were also pleased to note the support that had been given to Citizens Advice staff throughout the pandemic to enable them to cope with their increased workloads.
