He referred to Electric Vehicle (EV) charging points, solar panels and battery storage at home and added at weekends he was off grid. On weekdays when working he fired up the lighting in his warehouse and using his machinery. He stated that he did not have enough battery storage to run everything off grid. For the last five months he had experienced outage to the level of 145 volts when he's been told this was unacceptable. Concerned at the level of service received and responses received to these issues. On a more positive note, he added he was working with two local villages for local energy generation. Councillor Warneken was advised to contact Katie Privett post meeting to follow-up his specific issues raised.

Councillor Lunn commented on the original design of the grid and capacity issues. He asked did Northern Powergrid encourage any works outside the grid? Katie Privett outlined an example of work with Moto and looking at connection solutions at service stations for example.

Councillor Duckett enquired how Northern Powergrid worked with the Council's planning department regarding housing developments and commented on a number of power outages experienced in the area she represented.. At what point did Northern Powergrid know about potential new developments. Katie Privett responded that traditionally Northern Powergrid became aware when a planning application was submitted. She talked about design study that cost from £300 to £1500 for a development.

Councillor Poskitt also mentioned several power outages in Tadcaster locality and the major impact that had on businesses in particular in that area.

Councillors outside the Selby and Ainsty Area could join the proposed visit to the regenerative farming trials.

Councillor Jabbour, who was in attendance, with the Chair's permission enquired whether NYC Councillors outside of the Selby area could join the proposed visit to regenerative farming trials? Angela Crossland responded yes in response to his enquiry.

The completed project scoping forms for the three proposed priority projects were submitted which sought the endorsement of the ACC. Agreement was also sought as to which other project ideas to take forward for possible support through the fund.

Councillor Paraskos enquired whether anything was considered for Ainsty? The Chair stated that extensive discussions were undertaken at the working group about potential projects and locations, but it was recommended that the projects would be centred around the three centres of Sherburn, Tadcaster and Selby, however the proposal for the village cinema had not yet determined where these would be located as yet. He also enquired about on-going costs for schemes. In response Sarah Fenwick said any future costs for projects approved would be capitalised where possible.

There was a lengthy discussion and differing Member views as to the priority projects to support. Whereas support for the scheme, Village Cinema – provision of cinema facilities (projector, screen and blackout blinds) for two village communities to be determined - £20k was supported; alternate views were put forward regarding the proposed digital displays for six bus stops (£10k each). It was agreed that as a way forward only the four units for Selby be supported (total £40k) and the other £20k be reallocated to Project A, Interactive towns and specifically towards funding a heritage study survey.

Resolved:

That the Committee:

- i) endorse the Project Scoping Forms for the following projects:
